

forward and rolled on a flat surface, I stood and looked around to find that the woods were gone, I stood on a narrow strip of grass with thousands of stars speckling the sky around me. Ahead of me there was a path of stepping stones floating in the abyss, and at the end of the path was the light. It was no brighter than the others, in fact, it was dimmer than the others, but I was drawn to it. My legs started running, and my body followed. While charging toward the light, I felt the ground disappear from beneath me as I started to float. My floating accelerated as I tried to grab a stone to no avail. I began to feel as though I was falling up into the void, the path disappeared. It thhe star hhe